Alphabet Soup

Acronyms can be a useful tool in communication; they can reduce long phrases to something we can quickly reference to share information and understanding with others. They can also be confusing to those new to a community or process and make navigating systems next to impossible. To assist readers, we have included a list of acronyms found in this report. What is the Governor’s Advisory Council for Exceptional Citizens?

Mission

The Council’s mission is to provide leadership through advice and advocacy for the unmet needs of citizens of all ages who are exceptional*, in order to improve their lives.

*The term "exceptional citizens" refers to persons of all ages who have special needs. It should be noted that the GACEC state mandate for exceptional citizens includes children with special gifts and talents.

Statutory Responsibilities

In accordance with the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) 300.650, the Council serves as the State Advisory Panel for the Individuals with Disabilities Education Improvement Act (IDEA) and its amendments.

   (2) comment(s) publicly on any rules or regulations proposed for issuance by the state regarding the education of children with disabilities and the procedures for distribution of funds under this part; and
   (3) assist(s) the state in developing and reporting such data and evaluations as may assist the Secretary under Section 618...."
3. Delaware Code: Title 14, Chapter 24, subsection 2408

The legal authority of this Council shall be Title 14, Chapter 31, Exceptional Persons, Sub. Sec. 3111: "The Governor shall appoint an advisory council to act in an advisory capacity to the State Board of Education and other State agencies on the needs of exceptional citizens." The General Assembly shall provide for the maintenance of the Council. The Council shall also serve in the capacity of the Advisory Panel as required by the Individuals with Disabilities Education Improvement Act (IDEA).

The membership of the GACEC complies with the IDEA and includes the following components:

2. Individuals with disabilities;
3. Teachers;
4. Representatives of institutions of higher education that prepare special education and related services personnel;
5. State and local education officials, including officials who carry out activities under subtitle B of title VII of the McKinney-Vento Homeless Assistance Act (42 U.S.C. 11431 et seq.);

(b) Special Rule. A majority of the members of the panel must be individuals with disabilities or parents of children with disabilities (age’s birth through 26).
A Word from the Retired Executive Director

I thought last year when I wrote about the year of change it would be a while until I wrote about a year of change again. Well, it is with mixed emotions that I write my section of the GACEC Annual Report as my last official writing. In February I decided I was going to retire in May after being with the GACEC for 23 years. I have thoroughly enjoyed working with the Council and the stakeholders around the state. We have made great strides, but I know there is still a lot more work to be completed. Together we have made a difference and together we will continue to make a difference. I have learned so much from each and every one of you. I was mentored by so many wonderful, caring, knowledgeable advocates. I am forever grateful for all the stories and knowledge you bestowed upon me.

This year, we finalized the newest upgrades to the Delaware Disability Hub and are continuing to make the GACEC website ADA accessible as well. We released the newest video entitled “College is an Option for Individuals with Disabilities-Stepping up to the Challenge.” I am also working on some other videos with CANCANN Productions, and I hope they will be released shortly after my retirement. The website is always a work in progress with updates and enhancements.

We are still working through the pandemic and holding very meaningful and productive meetings via Zoom, Go To meetings and Webex meetings. We are being mindful of the students in our schools, particularly our students with Individualized Education Plans (IEPs). The entire community has been in an upheaval but particularly our families and individuals with disabilities.

Staff and Council members spent many hours in meetings and with legislators advocating for individuals with disabilities. A few of the successes I want to highlight in this section are House Bill 86, which is the expansion of K-3 Basic Special Education Funding, which was passed on June 22, 2021. Also, Senate Bill 56 which is the Educational Opportunity Funding that provides additional funding for schools to support English Language Learners and low-income students. This is part of a settlement agreement and was signed by the Governor on June 30, 2021. Another focal point of the work that was done to advocate for change is the preparation work and discussions which led up to Senate Bill 136, which is the transfer of Part C services to the Department of Education (DOE). This Bill will take measures to implement the move in stages and was passed on June 29, 2021.

It is my pleasure to introduce you to the new Executive Director, Pam Weir. Pam will tell you a little more about herself when she writes her section so I will not steal her thunder.

I will miss working with everyone, including the Governor, Lt. Governor, Cabinet Secretaries, their staff and the legislators, stakeholders and Council members. I am sure our paths will cross again in the near future.

Wendy S. Strauss
A Word from the New Executive Director

Dear Friends of the Governor’s Advisory Council for Exceptional Citizens,

I am excited for the opportunity to support and build on the incredible work of Council and would like to take this opportunity to introduce myself.

I have over twenty years’ experience working with children, families and persons with disabilities. I ran a licensed home daycare for almost 10 years where I experienced, firsthand, the challenges faced by families. After completing my degree, I accepted a position in an early childhood system of care grant initiative working with children and families experiencing mental health challenges. Most recently, I worked at Delaware’s Part C program as the Assistant Part C Coordinator where I remained for six years. As the Executive Director of the Governor’s Advisory Council for Exceptional Citizens, I am looking forward to expanding my knowledge and understanding of the issues facing persons with disabilities and exceptionalities and working to support Council to identify and implement solutions.

This past year, Council has engaged with issues ranging from policy to governance, to next steps for persons with disabilities. Legislation designed to facilitate equal, equitable and accessible opportunities for services and supports saw its’ way through the legislative process and were signed into law. These laws will help improve outcomes for persons with disabilities and exceptionalities.

I am very proud of the work of Council and feel the urgency for the acceleration of systemic change and improvement in how our State serves students with disabilities. Too many of our children are impacted by both achievement and opportunity gaps. In the coming months, I will focus on strengthening relationships with local stakeholders to share knowledge and expertise to drive universal improvement.

It will take all of us, government agencies, schools, support organizations, parents and students to improve our special education system and policies, procedures and practices related to the delivery of services for all residents with exceptionalities or disabilities in Delaware from birth to death.

I would like to thank my predecessor, Wendy Strauss. I am so thankful that I had the opportunity to know Wendy and work with her over the past six years. I am grateful for her continued dedication to and passion for this work as well as for her role as a mentor to me.

I hope to have the opportunity to get to know all of you- parents, community leaders, special education leaders, advocates, legislators and partner agencies. Despite the ongoing challenges of COVID-19, we have continued to meet to advocate on behalf of our students and individuals with disabilities and will continue to adapt to engage the stakeholder voice and address unmet needs. This past year has been difficult, but I hope we can continue to recognize and take advantage of lessons learned as we collectively navigate the months and years ahead with grace and kindness.

Gratefully,

Pam Weir
A Message from the Chair

As I reflect on the past year it was a very busy one for Council. We saw a school year unlike any other with COVID-19 safety protocols in place. Ensuring that Delaware’s students with disabilities educational needs were met was a challenge. It highlighted again just how important our work is and how dedicated each one of you are. Thank you for your continued passion and vigilance during this difficult and stressful time. I truly appreciate all your hard work and dedication! Your commitment to not only Council, but to individuals with disabilities is truly commendable.

Council also welcomed a new director, Pam Weir! We were saddened to see Wendy Strauss leave after so many dedicated years, but we wish her the best in her well-deserved retirement. Pam has some big shoes to fill but we are sure she is up for the task. We would like to welcome new members Cory Gilden, Genesis Johnson, Marie Olivere, Erika Powell and Lindsay Williamson. We thank members who are no longer serving with us and wish them the best in their new endeavors. We are sorry to say goodbye to Susan Campbell and Kimberly Warren. We thank them for their service to individuals with disabilities in Delaware and to the GACEC.

As a Council, we have reviewed, commented on, and advocated for legislation and regulatory changes that will positively impact the lives of Delaware citizens with exceptionalities across their life span. The emergence of a national pandemic only made us more vigilant in our efforts to ensure that our citizens are not forgotten or marginalized. It also reinforced the need to have our meetings become more accessible even after the pandemic is over and we begin to meet in person again. I look forward to continuing this important work with all of you as well as the dedicated staff of GACEC as we continue to navigate through this pandemic and ever-changing protocol safely.

Yours in service,

Ann C. Fisher

Infant and Early Childhood Committee Report

We began our fiscal year in November 2020 when Senator Sturgeon and Deborah Gottschalk spoke to the committee about drafting legislation to move Part C to the DOE. The draft was expected in January or February 2021 and the move is proposed for July of 2022. They also discussed a Request for Proposal (RFP) being moved forward for the Part C data system. There are concerns about having separate data systems. As of November 2020, there are no data systems that go from birth through early education. The best we can hope for is to have a birth to three data system that is compatible with the DOE data system. Sue Campbell informed Council that the new Part C Coordinator has been selected and will be starting on November 23. An RFP is also being drafted for early intervention services. New contracts will be in place by the end of the fiscal year.

By January 2021, Sue Campbell reported that there were two visitors at the Committee meeting. Michelle Mathew is the new Birth to Three Administrator. She has been with Public Health for the last 10 years and has a child who went through Child Development Watch. Kristina Horton is the new Part C Coordinator. She was previously with Child Development Watch. Michelle discussed some of the priorities Birth to Three is looking at. This included closing gaps in services and increasing compliance on the operations side. They spoke about the early childhood transition from Part C to 619. They will be working closely with Cindy Brown. Jen Pulcinella brought up a concern with a decrease in medical emphasis when children transition from part C to part B. Parents get confused on how different the models are. This is information that will be helpful to bring to Michelle and Kristina’s attention. Sue added that there is an RFP (Request for Proposals) on the bidder’s website for the data system that closes February 17. There is also an RFP currently being created for service delivery for the providers. Providers are currently operating under contracts that were created as early as 1993. One of the concerns was inconsistencies with provider responsibilities and reporting. Lisa Henry, the Director for Community Health Services for Public Health, hopes to start the new contracts as of July 1 of this year. Sue mentioned that GACEC would be interested in having a similar report out for Part C. She thinks it is very important for the transparency of this group. In the future, Sue hopes to discuss more about the screenings and reaching out to underserved populations and progress made on the program manual. Kristina stated that she looks forward to working with the GACEC in the future.

In February 2021, Kristina Horton, the new Part C Coordinator, met with the committee. Kristina mentioned that the Differentiated Monitoring and Support (DMS) Office of Special Education Programs (OSEP) letter from two years ago was received. It was briefly shared at the Interagency Coordinating Council (ICC) meeting in January. Feedback is being collected from ICC. They are currently writing a summary of progress letter directed for public viewing. This will help the public understand the work that Birth to Three has accomplished since the OSEP visit and that improvements are continuing to be made. Kristina discussed the Annual Grant application, which is currently posted in the Delaware Register of Regulations on page 809. The Public Comment Period was March 4 through April 3. The Annual Performance Plan was submitted on February 1. Sue noted some key points in the plan were as follows: -Indicator 1. Service delivery-30-day timeline. Progress was made from 55.3% to 82.3%. -Indicator 7. MDE/IFSP 45-day timeline. Slippage from 92.6% to 86.9%. -Indicator 8. Transition Steps and Transition Notification were 100%. Timely Transition Conferences progressed from 92% to 97%. The Child Count 0 to 3 decreased by 15% primarily due to COVID-19. Families were unsure about how services would be delivered. Kristina reported to the group on the Data System. Additional dollars were requested in the Annual Grant Application. The RFP for the new system is still active. The estimated project start date is May 1.

In March 2021, Cindy Brown and Kristina Horton spoke to the committee about the Ages and Stages Questionnaires (ASQs) developmental screening tools and inclusion specialists. The Office of Early Learning (OEL) partnered with the Center for Disabilities Studies (CDS) at the University of Delaware on the Act Early Grant to look at barriers that COVID-19 presented when trying to continue to conduct the developmental screenings. This is a short-term $94,000 grant that will end in the beginning of October. OEL is looking to do a pilot for a phone application to complete developmental screenings called Sparkler. They are asking Sparkler to do a demonstration in Delaware. Parents could get immediate results and it would allow screeners to dedicate their time to children who show delays.

In April 2021, Cindy Brown and Kristina Horton spoke to the committee about the Summer Birthday Rule, which ended on March 16. There has been talk of this since 2017. Children who turn three between May 1 and August will no longer continue with birth to three. These children will still have access to speech therapy, occupational therapy and physical therapy as needed through Medicaid, Medicare, or private insurance. Birth to three will continue collaborating with school districts on a case-by-case basis to ensure children continue to get the services they need. Birth mandate children will not be affected. The unit count has been moved to November. Hopefully there will be a second unit count.

Lastly, in May 2021, Kristina Horton and Pam Weir spoke to the committee. They spoke with Pam about her impression of the Council and her new position. They also reviewed the Delaware Early Childhood Center (DECC) meeting and discussed the Childcare Development grant being moved to DOE and the need for comments, particularly the section that includes Purchase of Care and children with disabilities. The committee focused on the move of Part C from DHSS to DOE and the update of the STARS program. The committee would like to collaborate with ICC to better strengthen both of our positions. The ICC members would benefit in knowing more about the GACEC and they would bring their firsthand knowledge to the table. There was discussion on recruiting new members and continuing virtual meetings once in person meetings are back in session. Rebuilding the birth to three relationships to being transparent is a focus for Kristina. Stakeholder engagement is paramount, and they discussed how the Parental Rights Booklet needs to be more reader friendly. The transition from birth to three services is a shock for parents and should be improved. The Infant and Early Childhood Committee would like to have a representative from the Parent Information Center (PIC) on the Council.

We have had quite the year focused on some big changes. With new leadership and some fresh faces, we plan on collaborating with and helping bring Delaware’s children the best resources and teachers the state has to offer. We are all in this together.

Children and Youth Committee Report

The Children and Youth Committee spent time reviewing their annual goals and discussing the breakthroughs they have made. The Children and Youth Committee met with representatives from the Speech Language Pathology (SLP) program at the University of Delaware to discuss the need for more SLPs in Delaware. The University is pursuing a bridge program for students who did not specifically get a bachelor’s degree ahead of SLP. The Children and Youth Committee is going to work on assisting them with securing funding to reduce tuition at the University of Delaware due to the cost being higher than other programs.

The group wrote a letter of recommendation to change the Alternate Assessment System to an Aggregated Interim System. This process is now moving forward, and information is being gathered from teachers who have implemented this system so we can work toward this change with legislators. In addition, Children and Youth Committee members completed a preliminary recommendation for changes to the School Construction Formula for the Kindergarten (K) to five range. The Committee circulated this information to additional stakeholders for further input. Tika Hartsock was appointed as the GACEC liaison to the Redding Commission. The two major items that were addressed were K through three program funding, as well as ensuring that the ombudsmen program is fully inclusive.

The Children and Youth Committee heard from Mary Ann Mieczkowski and Susan Veneema regarding Disproportionality in their February meeting. They discussed efforts being made by DOE, working with the schools, as well as supports being provided to schools. They also discussed the next steps and schools doing root cause analysis when issues arise. Mary Ann and Susan reviewed the supports being provided to schools via the Multi-Tiered System of Supports (MTSS) and Positive Behavioral Supports (PBS) programs.

In March, the Committee met with Mary Ann Mieczkowski regarding recovery services and the state’s recovery plan for children with disabilities due to COVID-19. They discussed how progress should be measured. The committee noticed a gap in the lack of guidance as to the standards and calculating lost learning. The Committee has been reaching out to get stakeholder input on the school construction formula. They received some resources within the guidance document for the acceleration, which included literacy acceleration based on the state literacy program, giving districts support for high quality instructional material, teacher training and tutoring. The supports are available through next summer.

In April, the Committee discussed the Redding Consortium Recommendations. The K-3 basic funding process has been included in the settlement but is not required until the 2024-2025 range. There has been success in making sure that children with disabilities will be supported by this program.

The Children and Youth Committee wrote a letter strongly encouraging that children with disabilities be added as a priority group under the Childhood Care and Development Fund State Plan. About five years ago, the United States Department of Education (USDOE) gave notice that they would begin enforcing the 50 percent typical peer rule in Part C 619 for three- and four-year-olds. Delaware has made significant progress with this, but there has been a barrier with having enough space in schools. There has been one application requesting funding for additional space, which has been denied for three years in a row. The Committee decided to send a letter to DOE requesting information and data on their Certificate of Need process and history. In addition, a letter of support was written regarding Senate Bill 136 to move Part C from DHSS to DOE.

In June, the group heard from Kimberly Krzanowski, Director of the Delaware Stars Program regarding an overview of the updates they are currently working on. There was a focus on Inclusion and Disabilities. When Stars was first developed, the Committee reviewed the program and had some significant concerns and comments. When asked if they had disability training as a requirement to have a Stars rating the answer was no. Kim asked if the previous recommendations could be sent to her. The reason for concern is that if children are denied services early on, the likelihood of them accessing childcare later decreases to almost zero. An Ad-hoc committee was recommended to address this issue.

Adult Transition Services Committee Report

In February, Kyle Hodges, State Council for Persons with Disabilities (SCPD), provided an overview of what the SCPD does. One of those key elements was the most recent amendment to the Employment First Act of 2012, which occurred in 2019. Governor Markel had made employment for people with disabilities a priority. To support the process, state agencies share data in various forms. A review is conducted, and information is provided on the status of the barriers addressed. SCPD is working with the state Human Resources group to listen to concerns and provide better opportunities. There was a question about what is done with the disability question on the state application. A need for more coordination between state agencies involved was identified.
In March, Robin Coventry, Delaware Disability Hub (DelDHub) Content Manager, shared information about what the DelDHub does. Ms. Coventry’s involvement evolved from an identified need for a website. The site was revamped in 2020 to become more accessible and user friendly. Some key functionality elements of the site are the ability to click on an area and have it read to the viewer using Read Speak. Text size is easily enlarged; text framing was added for easier reading and functionality. PDF downloadable files and instructional videos were a few of the upgraded items. Categories used on the website were established by a task force, which identified what was needed for students, parents and educators for the student’s transition. Some of the categories of planning include education, employment, emergency preparedness, health, housing, legal and transportation. It’s My Life and Understanding My Disability are some of the topics also available. At a minimum, each category has a toolkit and videos on the topic. A teacher toolbox is provided with sample lesson plans and videos for teacher instructional presentations as a resource. A military family page was added in the 2020 revamp as a result of the need in the Dover area. A timeline of student progress in transition is broken into three age ranges. This is available for parents, students and teachers to determine if the specific student is within the range of where they should be for transition. Help getting the word out about the hub would be appreciated by the DelDHub.

In April, presenters Erik Warner, Ed.D. Special Education Teacher Capital School District and Dale Matusevich, Education Associate for Secondary and Transition Services, Delaware Department of Education, provided information on what Delaware Department of Education does for transitions services and how it is evolving. The "Transfer of Rights" form is proposed for update to increase conversations between parties involved. The form will auto populate when a student is 16 to begin the transition process documentation. The form will auto repopulate when the student is 17 establishing the need to complete the form. Additions to the document were made to engage discussions, which would include parent’s involvement. The selection addition categories are Rights Transfer to Student, Power of Attorney, Voluntary Grant of Authority, Guardianship, Supported Decision Making and Educational Representative. Dale believes students do not understand the options and a little knowledge is needed to provide the student with some direction. Hopefully this triggers a conversation with the parents. One identified problem is that there are not enough Transition Counselors. This has been previously recommended for expansion with little results. There were 1250 referrals and only 300 resulted in an application. One school district with two Transition Counselors accounted for 100 of the applications at a 100% referral to application rate. To help with the process, the State Personnel Development Grant is up for renewal next spring. Dale is proposing to look at Universal Design for Learning. Mr. Matusevich is also looking at student leadership involvement which leads to parent engagement. Dale pointed out that transition has been in IDEA since 1990. It was noted that it is difficult to get parents engaged. The plan is to have stakeholder groups provide targets by 9/30/21, to continue to meet with stakeholders quarterly, get parents engaged and to continue to use the hybrid model, which has been used to grow parent engagement. The identified need is to push that transition is not an “add on” to get support to share the stakeholder group information with the public.
In May, presenters Michael Wagner, Education Associate for Delaware Department of Education, and Amy Anthony, Deputy Director for the Division of Motor Vehicles, presented on how communications on accessible parking are done for the citizens of the state of Delaware. Accessible parking knowledge is an issue in Delaware with items such as blue lines and van access. Questions posed to the two presenters included can we include information in the Driver’s Education courses and can we expand information in the Driver’s License manual on accessible parking? The current Driver’s Education course is about 30 hours of instruction. Driver’s Education is open to receiving concise additions to the training materials and reviews them for updates each year before the school year begins. In addition, a question can be proposed for an addition to the final exam. The updating review process begins in February of each year. GACEC might not be able to meet the current deadline but could provide the request for the next update. Both DMV and DOE are open to looking at the recommendations and most recently made additions for the Bike Council. In addition, the Farm Bureau asked about teaching how to drive on rural roads, which may have farm machines on them. Michael Wagner of DOE has offered to be the connector for the recommendations review. A possible communication tool to utilize could be the Motor Vehicle Network (MVN). This is an option for advertising for people waiting to be called to a DMV service window to communicate knowledge of accessible parking. GACEC member Robert Overmiller believes an extra $1000 dollars might be available to support the public service communication on the MVN. The DMV has a form, which can be filled out providing knowledge of a medical or disability condition on the driver’s license or state ID. This is a self-reporting issue and a special icon is placed on the front of the license with a notation of the issue on the back. The form must be filled out in person at DMV so that the new driver’s license or ID can be printed then.

In June, Maureen Whelan, Director of Adult and Prison Education Resources for Delaware Department of Education, spoke to the committee to help members gain an understanding of what the Delaware Department of Education provides educationally to adults with special needs in the prisons and community programs. Ms. Whelan shared the FY21 year to date YTD data. 181 students were eligible for special education in the prisons. 56 students received services with an IEP. 29 students were in process and 22 opted out of services. 42 students left prior to services being rendered and 32 received education without special education services. 41.5 high school credits were earned and 62 IEP benchmarks met. Of the group, 44% were identified as learning disabled (LD). Two alternative diplomas were earned and one industry certification was earned. Teachers were not permitted physically into the prison facilities for over a year. Education was delivered in the prisons using correspondence and video conferencing. Level IV special education services were added in FY21 with one student requesting services. Club Z is the contracted deliverer of special education services. When COVID is reasonably cleared, the delivery will move from Zoom to in person services. Pearson VUE provided 29 accommodations for inmates taking the GED® exam and the community programs. had two accommodations approved in FY21. Maureen stated there was a need for an additional special education instructor at Howard R. Young to meet the needs of the population. The GACEC voted to send a letter of support to the Secretary of Education.

Policy and Law Committee Report

This year the Policy and Law committee was able to analyze and review the limited legislation proposed at Legislative Hall as the General Assembly met remotely during the majority of the legislative session. Legislative Hall was closed to the public and legislators in March of 2020 and reopened to the public in a limited fashion in late May of 2021. Policy and Law committee members met remotely also to review and discuss the impact of 23 bills and 25 regulations on individuals with exceptionalities in Delaware. The full list of those bills and regulations, along with responses and outcomes may be found in the appendices at the end of this annual report. A few of the bills that the GACEC provided commentary on that have been signed by the Governor to date will be highlighted here.

House Bill No. 86 increases funding for kindergarten through third grade students identified as eligible for basic special education services. Prior to House Bill 86, basic special education has only been provided for students in fourth through twelfth grade who are identified as eligible for basic special education and related services. House Bill 86 will expand funding to younger students. The bill was passed and signed by Governor Carney on July 30, 2021.

House Bill No. 100 establishes mental health services units in every Delaware public elementary school, including charter schools. The State will be required to fund one school counselor or school social worker per 250 full-time enrolled students and one school psychologist for every 700 full-time enrolled students. In its comments to the General Assembly, Council noted that the introduction of this bill is timely in that the ongoing coronavirus pandemic has raised serious concerns about the long-term effects of increased isolation and remote learning on child mental health. Council also recommended that an intentional process of collaboration be developed among all personnel tasked with providing mental health services and supports to students. The legislation was passed and signed by the Governor on August 19, 2021.

House Bill No. 128 permits the extension of special education and related services to those students with a disability who turn 21 during the 2020-2021 school year thus aging out of special education. The IEP team for affected students will be responsible for reviewing and revising the IEP of the child with a disability whose education has been interrupted or adversely affected by the Coronavirus State of Emergency. The extension beyond the age of 21 will benefit individuals receiving special education services and supports that cannot be delivered virtually or part-time with the same effectiveness as in-person. Council supported this legislation since it ensures compliance with the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA), Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act and Title II of the Americans with Disabilities Act. The legislation passed and was signed by the Governor on June 3, 2021.

Senate Bill No. 56 introduced Educational Opportunity Funding, which will provide additional funding for schools to support English Learners (EL) and low-income students (LI). The bill was introduced as a result of a settlement agreement in RE Delaware Public Schools Litigation C.A. No. 2018-0029-VCL. The Department of Education (DOE) will be required to adopt regulations identifying the types of services and supports that may be funded with money from the Opportunity Fund. The bill requires the DOE to create accountability procedures and logistical supports, along with an expenditure plan template and plan development supports identifying evidence-based practices shown to improve performance outcomes for EL and LI students. Recipients of the funding will also be required to provide an annual report on the use of the funding received. Council supported the legislation and noted that it is a stride toward greater and more equitable funding for schools across the State but it is only the beginning, not the end, of progress needed to improve school funding in Delaware. The bill was signed by the Governor on June 30, 2021.

Highlights and Collaborations

The GACEC held its Annual Fall Retreat on October 10, 2020, virtually through Zoom as part of the Council’s planning activities for the upcoming year. There was also a District Personnel Report regarding the impact COVID-19 has had on education. The Council heard from Elyse Baerga, the Special Education Director of the Woodbridge School District, Erik Warner, 12th grade teacher from the Kent County Community School in the Capital School District and Lisa Lawson, Assistant Superintendent from the Brandywine School District.

Press Release Announcing the Retirement of GACEC Executive Director, Wendy Strauss~

The Governor’s Advisory Council for Exceptional Citizens (GACEC) would like to inform all stakeholders in the Delaware disability community of the retirement of Executive Director Wendy S. Strauss as of April 31, 2021.

Wendy’s role as Executive Director started twenty-three years ago. Running a state agency is not always easy, but the GACEC has grown under her guidance and direction. Wendy worked on numerous pieces of legislation with the Council and other disability advocates that positively impacted the lives of individuals with disabilities. She was instrumental in working with key stakeholders to get the Speech-Language Program in Delaware. Wendy and the Council led the team on the Seclusion and Restraint guidelines for the Department of Education and facilities. Another of her life-changing works was establishing School Resource Officer legislation requiring guidelines and training for school resource officers working with students in special education.

Ann Fisher, the Chairperson of the GACEC Council, shared, “The GACEC wishes Wendy well on her retirement. We thank her for her many years of dedicated service and unwavering support for individuals with disabilities and their families. Her knowledge, experience, and guidance through the years have been invaluable. She will truly be missed.”

Wendy worked on creating disability awareness at the public school level, in childcare and preschools by focusing on disability history and the disability rights movement. The initiative resulted in House Bill 123 proclaiming October as Disability History and Awareness Month in Delaware and HCR 33 to present Disability History and Awareness Month in childcare settings. The GACEC instituted a Disability History and Awareness Month Poster Contest. Students from across the state created works of art depicting specific topics people with disabilities face. The GACEC worked with many partners and schools across the state to have a book and coloring book developed and printed to share statewide. A curriculum was designed around the book and coloring book for preschool teachers and childcare providers to introduce friends with various abilities to their students as part of Disability History and Awareness Month.

Brian Hartman, a colleague for 33 years, said, “Wendy was an inspiring advocate for kids throughout her career. She earned respect for her diplomacy and “people” skills – she could professionally promote a cause without alienating others. I’ll never forget the many days (and sometimes nights!) spent together in Legislative Hall advancing a myriad of bills and initiatives. When we faced roadblocks, she could always be relied upon to offer practical, level-headed advice on a path forward. Wendy should take pride in her long tenure with the GACEC and her overall legacy as someone who improved the lives of countless Delawareans.”

A State Transition Task Force for Emerging Adults with Disabilities and Special Health Care needs was established by SCR 34 in 2012. The Task Force, Co-chaired by Teri Hancharick, then Council Chair and Wendy Strauss, addressed the need to review transition using a holistic approach. From the Task Force work and support from agency stakeholders, GACEC created the transition website Delaware Disability Hub (www.deldhub.com).

Terri Hancharick, past Chair said, “I met Wendy many years ago when I was invited to the GACEC retreat as a panelist to talk about how inclusion is not always the best practice. Boy, was I wrong! Wendy was one of the people who taught me about inclusion, the importance of friendships, and the importance of belonging to the community. Wendy has a very gentle way of getting her point across. She puts everyone ahead of herself. So, I hope she will use this time to selfishly do what she wants to do. After a lifetime of advocating for families and kids with disabilities and caring for her family members along the way, it’s time for Wendy. She always had time to take my phone calls, give advice and find resources for people that needed help.”

Wendy was instrumental in bringing together a team to create the Boundless theatrical production, which documented a march from Wilmington, DE to Washington D.C. of people with disabilities and supporters. The show was a massive success due to the professional talent working behind the scenes and people with disabilities who acted in the play.

An Oral Health Program called Brushing for Brighter Smiles, made possible by a grant from Public Health, was created under Strauss’s direction to teach children about oral hygiene. The interactive program was presented to hundreds of elementary students and preschool children ages three to five.

For a decade, the GACEC organized the Heart-2-Heart Hugs campaign, which provided warm winter clothes to Delaware’s homeless children. Donations of sleeping bags, coats, hats, gloves, blankets, socks, scarves, snow pants, afghans, bunting, hoodies, and mittens were distributed to schools and foster care programs.

A series of videos were also created with Strauss’s direction to help parents of children with disabilities, teachers, caseworkers, transition coordinators, and students.

Looking back, Mrs. Strauss reflects, “Knowing I and my dedicated staff made a difference in the lives of people with disabilities and their families have made my career so rewarding. Having met so many parents, advocates, and professionals that have taught me along the way was always a blessing that I am thankful for.”
Stepping into the GACEC Executive Director position is Pamela Weir. Pam has served in the Department of Health and Social Services/Division of Public Health as the Assistant Part C Coordinator for the Birth to Three Early Intervention Program for six years. In that position, she provided oversight and support for the Part C of IDEA Interagency Coordination Council and representation on statewide committees and councils to ensure program initiatives. She has ten years of program management and implementation and over eighteen years of human services experience. Pam has extensive experience aligning processes with federal and state regulations and monitoring the effectiveness of programs. She has worked with individuals with disabilities for over eighteen years.

The purpose of the GACEC is to serve as a review board for policies, procedures, practices, and advocacy related to the delivery of services to people with disabilities from birth to death. They act in an advisory capacity for the Department of Education and the Department of Corrections.

For additional information, call 302-739-4553 or visit the website www.gacec.delaware.gov.

We are so happy for Wendy and forever grateful for the impact she has made!
